

Laura Sinko, PhD RN, CCTS-I
National Clinician Scholar at the University of Pennsylvania

Laura is a practicing sexual assault nurse examiner in Philadelphia and a National Clinician Scholar at the University of Pennsylvania. Her research focuses on promoting gender-based violence recovery across the lifespan, particularly understanding socio-structural influences of these processes. She is interested in leveraging creative research methodologies to bridge the gap between survivor lived experience, the scientific community, and policy makers.